

Terms & Conditions of Use

This page sets out the terms and conditions of your use of our website.

By browse or using our website you are agreeing to be bound by the terms and conditions of use set out below. These terms and conditions of use should be read together with our privacy statement.

The information and material contained in this website is for your general information and use only and is not intended to create any legal relationship between Gramelis Attorneys and the user or viewer of the website.

We do our best to keep the website up-to-date, but we do not make any warranties or give any guarantee as to the accuracy, timeliness, suitability or completeness of the contents of this website. You agree that your use of any of the contents of this website is at your own risk. The contents do not constitute legal advice and should not be relied upon as such; rather, you should seek legal advice from a lawyer in person specific to your circumstances.

This website may at times be unavailable due to maintenance, updating or technical issues. Whilst we do our best to ensure all information on the site is accurate and regularly updated, we make no warranties that the website will be available uninterrupted at all times or that it will not contain inadvertent errors, omissions, misdescriptions or information that requires updating from time-to-time.

The contents of this website, including all information, including text, logos, graphics, images, photographs and sounds is protected by copyright laws. Gramelis Attorneys retains all right, title and interest in its intellectual property rights to the website and reserves all rights in respect thereof. You may not use the website in any way that infringes these rights or reproduce any part without our written consent.

The use of contents on any third party websites linked to our site is governed by the terms and conditions of use and copyright policies set out on those sites. Gramelis Attorneys does not take responsibility for the contents, accuracy or currency of any linked sites.

Gramelis Attorneys makes no warranties or representations about our website or any of its content. By browsing and using our website you agree that we are not responsible or liable to you or anyone else for any damages or loss of any kind, including (but not limited to) any direct or consequential loss and losses resulting from use of this website and we are excluded (and you release us) from all liability to the fullest extent permitted by law.

These terms and conditions of use are governed by the laws of the State of New South Wales and the Commonwealth of Australia.

Please let us know of any problem or apparent inaccuracy on the website you might come across at: attorneys@gramelis.com.au

We reserve the right to amend or change these terms and conditions of use from time-to-time at our sole discretion.